

In seafaring times, spies had to rely on the constellations for navigation, timekeeping, and even communication. Your contact has resorted to these old practices, and left a passcode for you in this old starchart:

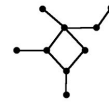

—

—

—

—

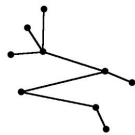

—

—

—

—

—